

What are the benefits of in-home advanced care?

Our goal is to serve as your primary source of healthcare during the period you are homebound or have limited mobility – meeting your healthcare needs until you are able to return to your doctor’s office. We are here to support you and make sure you get what you need to successfully recover or manage your condition.

In-home advanced care offers a “home visit” service for you and your family – to provide reassurance and avoid hospital readmissions. Working in collaboration with your physician, we offer the same quality care for patients who are unable to visit the doctor’s office – in the comfort and familiarity of your home or facility.

From general primary care to chronic and acute illnesses, in-home advanced care is an effective solution for homebound or home-limited patients who have difficulty traveling.

If you or a loved one is transitioning to home from a hospital discharge, and dealing with limited mobility and being homebound, in-home advanced care provides added safety, education, and early identification of possible complications.

Our services include:

- Primary care
- In-home lab services/X-rays
- Post-hospitalization visits
- Wound care visits
- Medication management
